BIOSTRATA

Adam Ball

Preview: Thursday 12th May 2011 6-9pm

Exhibition continues: 13th May 1st July 2011

Following Adam Ball's recent success in Paris, Tel Aviv and London, Zero10 Gallery is pleased to announce his first solo exhibition at our new space in Soho.

The artist will be presenting a new body of work comprising of microbiological elements layered against a diverse range of images, contrasting the micro and macro, biological and electrical, chemical and natural.

These complex images were created using large sheets of acetate, each printed with separate visual component, hung from the studio ceiling and photographed. The resultant ambiguous 'landscapes' are both unrecognisably alien and instinctively familiar. The exhibition will consist of paintings and works on paper inspired from these photographs. A white felt cut out and LED light box will also be presented, before being exhibited later in the year at the Goss-Michael Foundation in Dallas, US.

Adam Ball (born in 1977) lives and works in London. Since the exhibition of The Tree (2002), a 32-foot high painting in London's Golden Square, solo exhibitions include: Dirty Pattern, Paul Kasmin Gallery, New York; Graffiti Love, Goss-Michael Foundation, Dallas and Coexistence, Galerie Laurent Mueller, Paris. Adam has also exhibited at The Jerwood Drawing Prize; Becks Futures, ICA, London; ArteFiera Bologna and Taman Negara, Gagosian Gallery for New York Fashion week.
